

What's up?

- Watch This Space's second show in their new premises upstairs in the Cummings Plaza, opposite Flynn Church, features drawn and painted works by the multi-talented Ruth Graham. They are bold visions of the erotic and maternal bodies, under a variously blossoming and wilting "love tree". The pictured Ladyman is atypically three-dimensional, but typically provocative. Until Friday, 11am-3pm.

- Watch This Space is also supporting the multimedia pre-millennium drinks, music video and dance on a theme of memory, forgetting and betrayal, by performers Leah Grycewicz and Marnie Orr from Cairns, and Stephen Teacle, a multi-instrumentalist from Melbourne. At "the shed", 1-66 Smith Street, this Friday, Saturday and Sunday at 9pm.

- Alice Springs writers published in a feature on the Northern Territory in the national literary journal Overland, will read from their work at the Garden Room, next Tuesday (November 17) at 7.30pm.

They include Bryan Clark, Rose Coppock, Kieran Finnane, Jennifer Moore, Mardijah Simpson, Michael Watts and Alexis Wright.

The readings will be followed by a discussion and information session for writers with the Executive Officer of the NT Writers' Centre, Marian Devitt. All welcome.
